SYSTEM

11th JUNE 2009

Information security consultancy Adviza Consultants Ltd, providers of independent services and solutions for information assurance, business continuity and risk management across both public and private sectors today announces it has attained the globally recognised ISO/IEC 27001 certification for all areas of its business.

Adviza Consultants Ltd has been fully compliant with the standard for some time, and has been working to achieve external certification over the last few months. As a professional services company at the forefront of its industry, Adviza has always implemented and maintained safeguards to ensure client information is protected and to deliver the highest standards of security on its internal systems.

Adviza believes security is something which should be built in at source rather than bolted on. Managing Principal Consultant, Piers Wilson commented:

"Adviza is developing an excellent reputation as a supplier of security professional services and with ISO/IEC 27001 certification to reinforce our place in this market, we can show that we practice what we preach; which is an extremely powerful proposition."

Achieving ISO/IEC 27001 certification demonstrates to our customers that we adopt industry-respected best practice.
